

Yanghong Huang (University of Manchester)

Nonlinear aggregation-diffusion equation

Abstract

In this talk, several aggregation-diffusion equations arising from a wide variety of models will be discussed. The evolution equations possess a gradient flow structure for non-negative solutions, leading to rich patterns for different combination of nonlinear diffusion and nonlocal interactions. Other issues about the stationary equations will also be studied, including the asymptotic convergence rate and their characterization.